

The copyright to the Contribution identified above is transferred to Springer-Verlag GmbH Berlin Heidelberg (hereinafter called Springer-Verlag). The copyright transfer covers the sole right to print, publish, distribute and sell throughout the world the said Contribution and parts thereof, including all revisions or versions and future editions thereof and in any medium, such as in its electronic form (offline, online), as well as to translate, print, publish, distribute and sell the Contribution in any foreign languages and throughout the world (for U.S. government employees: to the extent transferable).

Springer-Verlag will take, either in its own name or in that of the Author, any necessary steps to protect these rights against infringement by third parties. It will have the copyright notice inserted into all editions of the Contribution according to the provisions of the Universal Copyright Convention (UCC) and dutifully take care of all formalities in this connection, either in its own name or in that of the Author.

If the Author is an employee of the U.S. Government and performed this work as part of their employment, the contribution is not subject to U.S. copyright protection. If the work was performed under Government contract, but the Author is not a Government employee, Springer-Verlag grants the U.S. Government royalty-free permission to reproduce all or part of the contribution and to authorize others to do so for U.S. Government purposes. If any of the above Authors on this agreement is an officer or employee of the U.S. Government reference will be made to this status on the signature page.

An author may self-archive his/her article on his/her personal website; however we request that acknowledgement is given to the LNCS publication and a link is inserted to the published article on Springer's website www.springerlink.com, LNCS online. The Author must ensure that the publication by Springer-Verlag is properly credited and that the relevant copyright notice is repeated verbatim.
